Western Europe Federation Is Urged by France

Part of Germany Would Be Included In Unity Program

By JOSEPH A. DYNAN
PARIS, Nov. 26—(AP)—France's national assembly in a historic move today called on western Europe to unite in a political and economic federation that would include western Germany.

The French assembly is the first European parliament to endorse recommendations of the 12-nation European consultative assembly, which met last summer at Strasbourg and called for a united Europe.

After four days of almost continuous debate the assembly also approved the government's general policy toward Germany which calls for relaxing occupation controls by western powers in exchange for security guarantees. The guarantees would guard against possible future German militarism.

Resolution Approved

The resolution supporting the federation plan and the western Allies' policy in Germany was adopted 327 to 249, after an all-night session.

The recommended inclusion of western Germany in the proposed federation paves the way for the Bonn republic's government to take part for the first time since the war in the European family of nations.

The assembly approved Germany's admission as an associate member into the council of Europe's lower parliamentary house, the consultative assembly. Such membership would not give Germany representation in the more powerful committee of (foreign) ministers, the council's upper house.

The resolution was presented by members of the three big political parties that make up the present coalition government of Premier George Bidault -- the popular Republicans (MRP), the socialists and the radical-socialists (moderate).

It called for:
1. Establishment of a "European political authority" within the shortest possible time. The Strasbourg assembly first coined this phrase to designate the proposed supra-national body.

2. Unification of European economies through the Marshall plan's organization of European Economic Cooperation. (OEEC).

3. Censure of the European council's 12 foreign ministers for refusing to give more powers to the consultative assembly as recommended at the recent Strasbourg session.

4. Putting the OEEC under the European council.

5. Western Germany's admission into the consultative assembly on condition the German's show they are willing to obey the council's states.

6. Prohibiting Germany from maintaining armed forces and from joining the North Atlantic Defense Act.

7. Placing the rich Ruhr valley mines and mills under international control.

8. Instructing the French government to oppose any rebuilding of Germany's war industries.

Giant Gorilla Of Circus Dies

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 26—(AP)—Gargantua the great has tramped his last season.

The giant, snarling gorilla -- star of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus for 12 years -- died on the same day the "greatest show on earth" folded its tents for the last time on its 1949 tour of the nation.

His powerful, 550-pound body was flown to Baltimore, Md., to undergo an autopsy to determine the cause of death. It is generally believed that pneumonia brought death to the huge beast.

Press agents said the body will be mounted and presented to the Peabody Museum at Yale University when Prof. Adolph Shultz at Johns Hopkins Medical School has completed the autopsy.

The lifeless form of "Gargy" was found early yesterday by his keeper, Jose Tomas. It was sprawled in the corner of his $20,000 air conditioned cage.

Baby Whale Born On Florida Beach Presents Problem

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Nov. 26—(AP)—A baby whale, beached by fate and abandoned by its mother was swimming forlornly in an unfamiliar tank today.

The calf was born yesterday, high on the sands of St. Petersburg beach.

Its 1,500 pound blackfish mother, a specie of whale, apparently had come into shallow water seeking safety for the birth of her offspring when high winds and receding tides left her stranded.

The mother and calf were discovered by three beach residents, John Fierber, Chuck Rethburg, and Bill Bell.

They carried the three foot calf to the gulf, then with the aid of a truck they slowly towed the mother to the sea.

The mother whale regained her strength and swam out to sea. The baby whale kept returning to the beach until its rescuers took charge and put it into a tank.

Now, the problem of feeding the whale is the puzzler.

Said Rethburg, "now what do we do?"

Red A-Bomb Targets In U. S. Predicted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—(AP)—Russia's first atomic blow in event of war would be aimed at Boston, New York, Baltimore, Norfolk, Seattle, San Francisco and the Panama Canal, a retired air force general says.

Next on the list, said Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Knerr, ret., would be Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago.

In an article in the current issue of Nation's Business, a magazine published by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Knerr called America's harbor cities perfect atomic targets.

Three atomic bombs, he said would "kill" New York harbor and every ship in it. Less than a score more bombs, he added, would deprive this country of its principal ports for "the initial, perhaps the decisive, phase of the war."

Livestock Price Slump Felt Here

Biggest Income Dent Is Made by Hogs

The slump in livestock prices is being felt in Fayette County.

Farmers here are taking the biggest cut in the hogs they market. Livestock income in the County — representing a multi-million dollar business each year — is on a decline.

This was revealed today following the release of figures by the Producers and Union stockyards, biggest in Fayette County.

Dollar sales at the two stockyards in Washington C. H. are down about five percent from those of last year but the volume (number of head sold) is up about .06 percent.

The stockyards here reported sales totaling $9,907,558.77 for the first ten months of 1949, compared with a larger total of $10,439,124.59 for a corresponding period in 1948.

Livestock volume increased from 180,270 handled in 1948 to 194,154 head handled in 1949.

Only the increased number of head sold at the yards kept the sales figures from declining more. The total figures still represent a sizeable turnover in livestock for comparatively good prices, however.

Drops in the dollar sales of hogs, cattle and sheep were reported by the stockyards. Calves showed the only boost in sales.

Hogs, chief money makers in Fayette County, dropped from $5,588,469.87 in 1948 to $5,350,785.44 in 1949.

Fayette Stockyards, which specializes in hogs, reported that the hogs went down from $27.45 per hundred in January 1948 to $16 per hundred average net in November 1949.

W. W. Montgomery, county agent, explained the drop in hog prices by saying that hog production has been expanding here since 1946.

He said many farmers increased the number of hogs they were raising during and since the war when they found they were bringing such good money.

Two excellent corn crops have also had something to do with the increased number of hogs being offered to the markets too, Montgomery said.

Montgomery said there are estimates that there will be increases of between five and ten percent in the number of hogs farrowed this spring. He said hog prices now compare with 1941 prices.

Sales Are Listed
Livestock sales at Fayette County's two leading stockyards from Jan. 1 through October 31 are listed as follows: (The 1948 figure is listed first in each case.)

Cattle, $3,712,279.59 and $3,508,015; calves, $228,963.64 and $235,777.91; hogs, $5,588,469.87 and $5,350,785.44 and sheep, $909,411.49 and $812,980.21.

A fairly sizeable decrease in the number of sheep sold was noted in the totals of the two stockyards. The 1948 figure was 47,988, compared to 41,911 in 1949.

Montgomery said sheep production had been on the down grade for about seven years. He said more farmers are returning to cattle and hog raising.

President Irked By Discussion Of US Secrets

Security Threat Seen in Disclosure Of Atomic Program

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—(AP)—A high government official said privately today that a senator's television discussion of atomic weapons helped touch off a presidential crackdown on talk about defense secrets.

But the senator—Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.)—denied emphatically that the broadcast had any part in President Truman's action late yesterday. And Johnson reiterated that he thinks there has been too little secrecy — not too much — about the atomic energy program.

The president late yesterday directed Attorney General McGrath to tighten up the safeguarding of atomic and other national security information, McGrath and Senator McMahon (D-Conn.), chairman of the Senate-House atomic energy committee, told newsmen about the order after conferring with Mr. Truman for more than an hour.

Neither McGrath nor McMahon would say what prompted the directive. They declined to answer questions about Johnson.

Crackdown Explanation
But an official entirely familiar with the reasons for the crackdown order told a reporter:

"There has been a series of incidents endangering security which disturbed the president, but it is safe to say that the whole thing was brought to a head by the Johnson telecast."

The television program to which he referred originated in New York on Nov. 1. The subject of the panel discussion was "Is there too much secrecy in our atomic program?"

Johnson, a member of the joint atomic committee, argued that there is not enough secrecy. But during the debate he asserted that:

1. This country's scientist have developed an a-bomb which has six times the effectiveness of the bomb dropped at Nagasaki in 1945.
2. The United States is working — and has made considerable progress — on an a-bomb 1,000 times more powerful than the Nagasaki weapon.

3. American scientists have gone far toward finding a way to explode an enemy bomb before it reaches its target.

Johnson said later that he disclosed nothing that was not already public information. And he said that in referring to the data during the telecast as "top secret," he was talking about "know-how" — knowledge of how to manufacture the things he discussed.

Missing Girls Found; One Dead, One Hurt

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26—(AP)—A twelve-year-old girl in a state of near exhaustion was found Thanksgiving Day beside the dead body of her younger sister under a 100-foot trestle.

The girls apparently had fallen from the railroad bridge. In a moment of consciousness the injured girl said her sister fell "through the trestle, I heard her scream and ran to help her and I fell through too."

Their discovery by five boys playing on the brink of the ravine the trestle bridges ended an all-night search for the girls. They were last seen Wednesday afternoon after they were dismissed from school.

The dead girl was 11-year-old Elsie Jeanne Henry. Her sister is named Jannie Betty. They were third and fourth grade pupils, daughters of James F. Henry of nearby Rutledge.

The Henrys reported the children missing Wednesday.

Christmas Appearance Is Taken on by Stores In Washington CH Now

With schools out many a youngster took advantage of the chance to press his nose against store windows in Washington C. H. to get a better look at what was inside—a preview of into Santa's pack.

And there was plenty to see, for Washington C. H. store shelves and windows were bulging with potential gifts for Christmas already.

Most store owners had their establishments decked out with the traditional red and green trimmings to remind their customers that Santa Claus time is just around the corner.

This year the merchants have been doing their shopping more carefully in anticipation of more discriminating buyers.

For instance, toys, always a big Christmas seller have a new look this year.

Cardboard doll houses along with most other cardboard items have been discarded in favor of metal structures.

"People want things that last now," one store owner explained.

The ever increasing mechanization and adding of gadgets to toys will be quite evident to the shopper this year.

No longer will the youngster just push a toy car around. He'll be able to fill it up with gasoline (water), drain out the oil and lift up the front hood.

Little girls will find miniature washing machines that have realistic drain hoses attached.

For her doll, she will have her choice of those that ask to be picked up and have their diapers changed to those that just sit and stare at you.

If Junior picks out the right train set, he won't have to waste any energy imitating a train conductor. That's all taken care of for him by a mechanical uniformed figure that calls off the stations just as if it were made for the job.

Toys are not the only items that manufacturers have been improving on in an effort to woo the consumer's dollar.

Stainless steel has replaced nickel plate on many appliances and the old-style circular control knob has given way to the push-button.

Naturally, some things like the old gift favorites of handkerchiefs and ties are the same, but where possible, stores are trying to give the buyer new, improved models.

Name it, and chances are you'll have it. At least that's the case for most Christmas shopping list items.

One exception noted for this area is television. Several appliance dealers here report that demand for video has been so lively that they have fallen behind on installment schedules. Although there is no serious shortage of the sets, they say, the demand is in excess of their supplies at this point.

Of course, store owners are hoping against hope again that more of their customers will avoid that last minute rush before Christmas as one manager said, "We want the customer's business anytime, but we can give him much better service if he avoids the last minute rush."

Woman Found Dead; Sex Fiend Hunted

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 26—(AP)—The body of a 38-year-old woman police said was the victim of a sex fiend, was found today behind a house in Pittsburgh's east end.

She was identified as Miss Jean Brusco.

Her head had been crushed by repeated blows of a heavy instrument, officers reported. Her clothing was disarranged and police said she had been raped.

They said a woman was reported slugged and dragged into an automobile at 1 A. M., in the vicinity of Miss Brusco's home.

Unemployment Drops In U. S. Production Cities

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—(AP)—The labor department reported that unemployment dropped between July and the end of September in 85 of 100 major production centers surveyed.

Both Columbus and Youngstown were found to have a moderate labor surplus with unemployment of 5 to 6.9 percent. A substantial labor surplus with unemployment from 7 to 11.2 percent was found in Akron, Canton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton, Springfield and Toledo.

Brannan Farm Plan Rejected At National Grange Meeting

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 26—(AP)—The National Grange has rejected the Brannan farm price support program as "an internal cancer that would ultimately destroy our free enterprise system."

The resolution condemning the farm program proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan was a highlight of the closing session of the 12-day National Grange convention last night.

Delegates from 37 states took part in installing Master Albert S. Goss for his fifth two-year term just before passing the resolution which said of the Brannan plan:

"The proposal has totally undesirable political implications. Clearly, under such a system, that party which would promise to farmers the largest bonus out of

Russia Defies UN Once More

Reds Walk Out On China Debate

By TOM OCHILTREE

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 26—(AP)—Nationalist China insisted today on fighting to a finish her campaign in the United Nations to prevent worldwide recognition of the Chinese Communist regime.

Soviet Russia and the other members of the Moscow bloc at once took action to smother the issue by silence. They announced they would not take part in the debate on the Chinese question.

They said they would not consider themselves bound by an decisions the General Assembly reaches on Nationalist China's charges.

As Chiang Kai-Shek's government opened its battle yesterday with 17,000 words of charges against Russia and the Chinese Communists, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky strode out of the political committee meeting. He said he was going home to rest.

Apparently China's appeal was aimed particularly at Britain. London is said to be considering early recognition of the Red Regime in Peiping to protect large British commercial interests in China.

Officials in Washington and Paris also are targets for the appeal, though resistance there is understood to be much stronger than in London to any move to establish diplomatic ties with Mao Tse-Tung's Communists. Russia already has recognized the Peiping government.

Auto Insurance Rates Reduced

COLUMBUS, Nov. 26—(AP)—At least two large automobile insurance companies have announced premium reductions in Ohio for next year and others are expected to follow suit, Walter A. Robinson, state superintendent of insurance, disclosed yesterday.

Reductions in premiums have already been made by the Ohio Bureau of Casualty Insurers of Columbus, representing 29 companies, and the American Automobile Insurance Co. of St. Louis, Robinson said. The reductions, effective Dec. 1, amount to about $2,500,000 a year.

Further premium cuts by other companies are expected to bring the saving to Ohio motorists up to $5,000,000, he declared.

By Wash Fayette

I was just looking through a copy of the old Ohio State Register of November 23, 1894 or 55 years ago and I note that the F. L. Stutson Store, then located in the Midland Block, carried a large display advertisement quoting prices that sound almost unbelievable compared with today's prices.

However, in those days incomes were away down to what they are now, and workmen frequently worked a week for what they now make in a single day. Anyway the prices are interesting, and I am quoting a few of them here for your information: 50 pieces 40 inch dress goods at 15 cents, former price 30 cents. Blankets, $1.25 to $2.75 a pair. 100 pieces of gingham at 4 cents per yard, worth 7 cents. 100 pieces percales at 8 1-3 cents a yard, worth 12 1/2 cents. Men's fine shoes $2 to $3 per pair.

Ladies' shoes $1 to $1.48. Ladies' capes $2.49. Ladies' cloaks $4.98 to $8.49.

I also note that C. F. Ballard, leading hardware merchant at that time, was selling iron kettles at $1.84 each; lard cans, 50 cents; husking pegs, 3 for 25 cents and husking gloves 50 cents.

Farmers Will Soon Vote For Committeemen

Balloting Places And Time Are Announced By AAA Chairman

County Chairman Harry Silcott has announced times and places for the annual balloting for PMA committeemen in Fayette County, which will be on Nov. 28, 29, 30, and Dec. 1, at various places.

In connection with the forthcoming election, County Chairman Silcott has addressed a letter to the farmers of the county, which reads:

"The time of year is again at hand when it becomes necessary for all farmers who may be interested in the PMA program, to meet, in accordance with legislative authority, in all townships, counties and states, to elect farmer committeemen to serve in carrying on PMA activities in their respective counties in 1950.

"This very democratic approach and method of selecting and electing qualified farmers, at the community and county level, to administer and promote the program in the various townships and in the county, has proven to be the most effective yet devised, and is a concrete example of democracy in action.

"For the past two years (1948-1949) the farmers of this country have been protected by federal legislation supporting prices to all farmers on all important farm crops at 90 per cent of parity for two years following the war. This temporary measure was justified by the evident appreciation of all thinking people for the successful and almost super-human efforts of the farmers in making their contribution to food and feed requirements of the war. Also to protect agricultural economy during the first years of the rehabilitation period which has always followed all other wars. This measure will be superseded on January 1, 1950 by the Agricultural Act of 1949 recently passed by Congress, containing 90 per cent support price on all principle farm crops to farmers who cooperate in the production adjustment requirements. From now on we need to be guided by sound economic thinking and planning on our way down to a normal basis, commensurate with the decline of other non-farm basic activities.

"We have been rapidly developing the fact, especially in the last few years that future farm programs and policies can, and should grow largely from recommendations and opinions of farmers themselves, and it is with all these facts in mind, and the very possible assurance, with continued interest and cooperation of the farmers themselves, we can be assured of a permanent farm program that will not be only satisfactory and acceptable to farmers but also to non-farmer consumer and possibly to both political legislative bodies as well.

"It is with these import objectives in mind, that I want to urge you to attend and participate in the selection and election, as you have very satisfactorily in other years, of the farmers in your community to serve as your community committeemen, who will take the time to serve in that capacity for your interest and benefits.

"You are cordially invited to attend the meeting applicable to your township according to the following schedule of dates and places:

Activities On the Farm

By THOMAS E. BERRY
FARMING AS A HOBBY

Charles Oldrieve, Route 3, Bethel, Ohio, district representative for Sonotone Hearing Aid, reports farming as a hobby, in Brown County, near Georgetown.

"The farm I am on has been 'farming down,' Mr. Oldrieve says, and he's 'farming it up.' He is doing this with Jersey and Guernsey dairy cattle, and using evergreen trees to help prevent erosion. He likes the Yew evergreens for this purpose. He says they are fast growing, vigorous rooted trees, that help to hold the soil, and then they have a market value when only a few years old. His trees, planted four years ago, are almost two feet high, and in a few years, they will be in strong demand for ornamental evergreens, in homes during the holiday season.

I like Mr. Oldrieve's attitude toward his 15 year old boy, who has a share in the livestock on the farm.

"Giving a boy the ownership of livestock, and something to encourage him, is very important," Mr. Oldrieve says, and of course, I agree with him. The old idea of the boy's calf and Dad's cow; or the boy's pig and Dad's hog is passing, and it should have passed long ago.

Boys' and girls' club work has been of great value in hastening its departure.

I am very sincere in wishing Mr. Oldrieve and his fine family continued happiness and prosperity in their farm home.

Grange Hits Brannan Plan And Gives Labor Some Hints

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 26. —(AP)—Labor and management have been offered some advice by the National Grange, which acknowledged in a resolution "that the entire world is concerned with a stable and steadily expanding economy in the U. S."

The resolution contained these admonitions:

Avoid monopoly at all times. Management should always place full employment above high prices and excessive profits. Labor unions have a useful place "in order that the combined economic strength of industrial and professional workers may offset the powers of organized or big industry and finance."

Labor has a right to strike when a majority approves.

The injunction and compulsory arbitration are justified to end a strike when it menaces the public interest.

The secondary boycott and sympathetic and jurisdictional strikes or slowdowns should be curbed. Labor should not resort to "feather-bedding."

The closed shop should be discouraged.

The grangers also voted support to the Taft-Hartley act but approved "such modifications as may be necessary to correct abuses."

Other Resolutions

Other approved resolutions call for:

Standard time in all zones throughout the year because "daylight saving is confusing."

Maintenance by the federal government of its ownership claim on tideland oil.

Maintenance and protection of clear-channel broadcasting stations to insure "reliable and satisfactory radio service to the farm population."

A try-out "in an appropriate

Nearly All Corn Has Been Husked

Practically all corn has been husked in Fayette County, except some of the shock corn and good headway has been made in husking corn from the shock, regardless of the dry weather.

Most of the farmers have their fall work completed, except plowing, and while considerable plowing has been done, more will follow when the ground is thoroughly soaked.

Not all inter-collegiate competition is on the gridiron.

In fact, young Montgomery just left Columbus with the team to participate in the International Livestock Show at Chicago.

Saturday he and his teammates will compete in the inter-collegiate livestock judging contest at the Show.

Some 25 colleges throughout the nation have entered teams.

The Ohio State team recently placed first at the Eastern States Livestock Exposition in Baltimore, Maryland, two weeks ago.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—The little man opened his belt a notch, pushed away his plate full of bare turkey bones, said "aaaa-hhh" in a satisfied way, and sat down by the radio.

There was good Thanksgiving Day news for him. The announcer was just telling about a Government report, from the Federal Reserve Board, about the money Americans were making.

The board said total consumer income in this country is 90 per cent higher than in pre-war 1939, although just a little lower than last year.

Americans not only were making good money, the board said, they were also willing to spend it, and they were spending it. The little man was pleased and contented. Why not?

Things were pretty peaceful and going pretty smoothly. He remembered this time last year. There was pretty tight tension between this country and Russia. Was it last year? Or the year before. Anyway, that seemed a bit improved today. Peacefulness was pretty general.

Well, not quite. The announcer was talking about the war in China where the communists were still pushing ahead, gobbling up the country.

But to the little man in the big chair by the radio China seemed far away. And there had been fighting in China for years anyway.

It was easy to let China melt out of his mind as he rolled his tongue around, still tasting the gravy and the wonderful cranberry sauce.

But the announcer was saying France was shutting down for 24 hours. Organized workers were striking for a day because they wanted more money.

They wanted a bonus and they wanted the Government to take the freeze off wages so they could meet rising living costs. A whole Nation was being brought to a standstill.

The little man shut off the radio. He could begin to feel that slight uneasiness that crept through him every once in a while when he heard of strife, conflict, unrest, insecurity.

His daughter, who had been looking through the papers, said "you know anything about the Arms Pact?"

"Oh, not much," the little man said. "All I know is we're going to give arms to our friends in Europe to stop the Communists."

"That's what it says here," the daughters says. "It says we're going to start giving them pretty soon."

"Oh, I'd like to see it," the little man said, forgetting that he didn't want to see it but only wanted to sit still, feeling warm and fine and rested.

He read the story and read too the story about the war in China. Away down in that story—somehow it didn't make the headlines—the little man read twice, for the story said:

"An indication came from the communists in Peiping that Red fighting would be intensified in surrounding nations as their control over China is broadened and tightened."

12 From County In Skit Tuesday

Farm Bureau History Is To Be Traced

Twelve Fayette County residents are practicing their parts for "Farm Bureau in Review," a dramatic skit of the history of the farm organization, to be presented next Tuesday at the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation meeting in Columbus.

Those from Fayette County who will participate in the review include Robert Wehr, M. J. Smith, H. E. Morris, William Brown, Wendell Whiteside, Herbert Dawes, Richard Kelly, Cecil VanZant, Robert Garn, Robert Hurtt, Allen Sells and Edwin Swartz.

A full month has been spent in preparation for the skit. Ellen Linson of Greenbelt, Md., former director of recreation for the Cooperative League, USA, and now a member of the dramatic staff of the national cooperative school, is the director.

150 To Take Part
The skit will feature a cast of 150 Farm Bureau advisory and youth council members from nine Ohio counties, who will act the story of the federation's 31-year-old history on the stage of Memorial Hall.

Action will be pantomime. Colored slides, the Farm Bureau chorus of 75 voices and a speaking chorus composed of OSU Farm Bureau youth council members will present the development of the organization. A special feature of the show will be the introduction of the federation charter members.

Thirty-year Fayette County Farm Bureau members who will most powerful men in the Red Regime, declared in a broadcast speech that "National Liberation Armies" must be set up in Asian Nations controlled by western "Imperialists."

That seemed to mean, the little man thought, if it meant anything, that the communists were frankly announcing they were going to take over Asia.

His first thought was: what can we do? He didn't know. He didn't like to think about it. But if the communists had all Asia, all Russia, all Eastern Europe.

He pushed the paper away and said brightly to his daughter: "I hope next Thanksgiving, I hope all our Thanksgiving, I hope as this one."

This is also true of handicapped people. We all need some shading to get us well started, as we learn to accept, and live with our impairments, but not too much, or we will be harmed by excessive shading and protection. We too, like the newly transplanted plants, must learn to make our own development, in order to grow and become useful again.

Grange Sewing Contest Won By Pickaway County Woman

Announcement was made today that Mrs. Frank Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Cardiff of Fayette County, was the winner of the National Grange sewing contest in Sacramento, Calif.

Mrs. Graves, who resides in the southern part of Pickaway County, copped the national title with her winning two-piece cotton dress entry.

She won the right to enter her dress into the national competition by winning the Ohio Grange contest, in which 100 cotton suits had been entered.

Last year Mrs. Graves won first place in the Ohio Grange contest with her winning tailored blouse entry. She placed second in the national.

Ohio won the National Grange adult sewing contest. Wyoming was second and Indiana third.

In the youth group, Michigan was first; Ohio, second and New Jersey, third.

You'll have to fly over Adams County as many times as I have, and see many beautiful farms with picturesque terraces and strip cropping to appreciate what is being done here in soil conservation.

The land on these farms doesn't wash away because the water is made to "walk down hill," and in case of terraces it is diverted and made to go around the hill.

SOIL CONSERVATIONISTS
I know that some of the men in this profession at times get discouraged, but they don't need to be discouraged. May I suggest that when you feel a little "low" that you go to the airport and ask the pilot to fly over the section where you are working, and then to drive you over adjoining counties in southern Ohio, so that you can better see and appreciate much that is being done to prevent further soil erosion.

You'll come back rested and refreshed a more enthusiastic than ever about your work.

You're doing good work, a very good work, but there is still much to do.

It has taken a long time to get the people on the land and many

Our Young People and Future Education

Scores of young people in Fayette County are beginning to plan and investigate their own possibilities in connection with a future college enrollment. In many places registration is made long in advance of the actual beginning of a student's actual college life.

Expenses, nearness of a desirable college, determination where they can get best results for the money they expect to spend, schools which offer them best opportunities in certain courses, all these things are to be taken into consideration before a decision is reached by most young people who plan to go to schools of higher learning.

It was expected in the summer and early fall that college enrollments would be lower this year than last, because of a reduction in the number of military service veterans going to college at government expense. But a comprehensive survey discloses that the total enrollment now is higher than last year, and that a fourth of all colleges and universities turned students away this fall because of inability to accommodate all who applied. On the other hand 70 percent of all institutions said they were prepared to admit more students if they had applied, and it is indicated that these could have admitted more than four times as many as were turned away by other schools. Most of this seeming inconsistency doubtless is due to the desire of individuals to attend some certain institution.

The survey also revealed that officials of almost half of all colleges and universities believe that a still higher peak of enrollment will be reached within the next four years. To cope with present situations and prepare for the expected future, 77 percent of institutions have building programs underway or planned.

The total population still is rising, and young people in increasing proportion desire—and find means—to go on to college after finishing high school. If this tendency is not to be discouraged, still more ambitious expansion programs may soon be needed by many of our institutions of higher learning.

Steam And the Rails

Although the huffing, puffing steam locomotive still is seen daily at its tasks, most railroaders concede that it belongs to a disappearing era of railroading. But they are far from agreed as to what type of rolling power plant will take its place, and some believe that it is not steam which is to be driven from the rails but only the now familiar type of steam locomotive with its great driving wheels and pounding rods.

The coming of the electric motor doomed the old-fashioned steam locomotive, for it brought a means to link great power smoothly and efficiently to the driving wheels. The first inroads were made by electric locomotives, which take their electric energy from third rails or trolley wires, and glide swiftly and quietly along the steel tracks. Then came the Diesels, noisier than the electrics but almost as smooth and efficient, and having a great advantage in that they need no extra track installation, but can go anywhere a steam locomotive can go.

The locomotive of the future, some say, may revert to steam power, using coal as fuel. The steam will be used to drive a turbo-generator, and electric motors will drive the wheels. That development might partially assuage the sense of loss felt by romanticists, who are loathe to see the old steam train give way to modern streamlined marvels. If the coal burner of the future is smokeless, it may also hold favor with the housewife who has been glad enough to say goodbye to the belching stacks of the old-time engine.

The year 1949 may go down in history as the one in which the young male American blossomed like the rose in gay colored blouses resembling pajama tops.

Season for Salaam to the Slalom

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK —(AP)— This is the season when the American outdoor sports world gives it salaam to slalom.

So what's new in skiing? "They are playing around now with glass skis," said Fred Picard, who operates the Sky Shot at the Sun Valley resort.

"Glass skis may be the coming thing. They have already tried aluminum in a search for something to replace hickory. Good hickory skis today cost $40 to $60. That's too high. The industry is looking for a material that will enable it to mass produce skis selling at $5 a pair."

Picard, who first learned his unprunings and schusses skiing in kindergarten in Switzerland, is an authority on the fast-growing winter sport.

"I am one of the few people who spend 12 months a year at it—making a living out of it," he said.

Picard, now 42, came here originally in 1939 to set up the Swiss handicrafts exhibit at the New York World's Fair. He switched to the ski business when he saw how rapidly American interest in the sport was increasing.

"Twelve years ago there were only about 100,000 skiers in this country," he said. "Now there are at least 2,000,000. And that doesn't count the kids who ski in the backyards."

Besides selling fancy equipment to movie stars at Sun Valley, Picard acts as ski consultant to a number of department stores, designs wall paper for ski lodges, and set up a mail order business for skiers. He outfitted the U. S. Women's Olympic Ski Team last year.

An odd fact: more than 5,000,000 pairs of ski pants were sold last year, but about half of them ever slid down a snow-covered hill.

"As many go to non-skiers as skiers," said Picard. "Mothers buy them to wear when they wheel babies to the park in winter. We call them the carriage trade."

Many people try skiing once, take a bad tumble, and give it up.

According to Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr., the theoretician of the A. D. A. the socialist organization that hopes to absorb both the Republican and Democratic parties, this is what Alexander Hamilton believed concerning the welfare state:

"The welfare state has been with us since the first administration of this government. The very phrase, welfare refers of course to the clause in the constitution which says that one of the general welfare ... and the first person who developed this principle of using the federal government is to promote and support the general welfare was Alexander Hamilton. The various measures which Hamilton advocated as secretary of the treasury ... the national bank, the funding measures and his great report on manufacturers, were all means by which the government ... the power of the government would be used to support and sustain and promote

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IN the past, one of the great obstacles to the successful treatment of syphilis was the time required. The only drugs then known to combat this disease had to be given for extensive periods. Many patients found this tedious and stopped treatment before the condition was checked or cured.

Today, all this is changed and there is a good possibility that for the long we will have a one-shot cure for this once almost hopeless disorder.

Penicillin Treatment

Penicillin has made possible the new, fast methods for dealing with syphilis, a number of which have been developed by the Chicago Health Department, which has aimed not only at speedier results but at allowing the patient to continue his usual activities during treatment.

The first work was done with penicillin in oil and beeswax. About 1000 patients were placed on a 10- to 15-day treatment schedule. More than 8 out of 10 of these patients completed the prescribed treatment.

Treatment was discontinued by 28 out of the 1000 patients because of some reaction to the penicillin preparation; by 60 others because of some illness, either personal or within their families, and by 125 patients for unknown reasons. Altogether, this group was only about 1/4 as large as the group that discontinued treatment when the former long-time period was required with such drugs as arsenic, bismuth and mercury preparations.

Questions and Answers

M. I.: What would cause a growth of hair on the lower part of the chin in a person in the middle twenties? Is this due to a thyroid disturbance?

Answer: The growth of superfluous hair is not known. It is possible that it is due to some glandular disturbance. However, I know of no evidence that it is due to a thyroid deficiency.

Features at the Theaters

Everyone knows about the usual variety of Hollywood talent scout who may spot a pretty girl in the chorus of some obscure night club, then rush her to the studios for a tryout.

But Jay Marchant, MGM's veteran unit manager is a different kind of talent scout.

He has to find photogenic actors of the four-footed variety. Marchant scouts for animals.

He did it for "The Yearling" and came up with the talented deer "Flag."

Most recently, he had to hunt for a fox, a lamb and a raven for MGM's, "The Secret Garden."

FAYETTE THEATER

Postwar Vienna is the setting for the opening feature at the Fayette Theater Sunday and Monday.

A banner cast of Walter Pidgeon, Ethel Barrymore, Peter Lawford, Janet Leigh and Angela Lansbury are teamed up in the tense melodrama "The Red Danube."

The story centers around the maneuvering of Russian Army officials and British administrators over the repatriation of a DP ballet dancer.

Tuesday the projectors will be shut off for a while to give way to

Worry Over Dinner

Blamed in Suicide

McKEESPORT, Pa., Nov. 26—(AP)—Police said a young mother leaped to her death from a bridge over the Youghiogheny River after worrying about Thanksgiving dinner for her husband and four children.

The body of Mrs. Helen Swann, 33, was recovered from the river yesterday, four hours after her steelworker husband, John, was awakened by one of the children who told him "Mother's gone."

Police said Swann told them and his wife attended a dance Wednesday night.

"On the way home she began to

CHAPTER FIFTY

SEATED beside Myles on the bench at one side of the summer-house Eckhard went back to the afternoon before the storm when he had angered Gene Sargent by changing the hanging of his pictures in the large gallery. Sinclair, who was present, had ribbed her about her short temper. In the repair shop he had taken one canvas from its frame and substituted another he had brought from his room at the Inn. Later, thinking over the change, he had decided that he could have hung "Romance in Stone" in a better light. After he finished the business of hiring the studio he hiked back to the Gallery hoping to contact Si Pond, the watchman, with whom he had become friendly, who would let him in. Earlier Miss Sargent had told him that the Digbys had been called away suddenly.

"Then you weren't at the Inlet when the storm started as you told Miss Trent you were?"

"I shifted the time a little, Major. Let's say I indulged in fiction license. It seemed expedient. No watchman was visible on the place when I arrived. I hoped there might be a window unattended in the Digby apartment. I was determined to check on the lighting of my picture—many a painting has been lost because of poor hanging. I'm a stubborn cuss when I get an idea. Just as I reached the path to the el came a blinding flash, a shattering crash and the heavens opened. I crouched among the shrubs near the kitchen door as a protection against the deluge, figured it was bound to let up in a few minutes.

"The world was black as pitch. I was wondering what move to make when I heard feet splashing along the path, then a figure muffled in an auto robe. I couldn't make out whether male or female, fumbled at the door. Lightning split the sky. Whoever it was slipped inside the house. I heard a key turn.

"Why didn't you grab that chance to get in out of the rain?"

"It was so sudden surprise knocked me for a loop. Then I began to think and it didn't look good. The Digbys were away. I thought of the treasures in the Gallery, of my paintings which represented the work of years, and dashed into the path intending to investigate the mysterious entrance. Headlights blinded me. I jumped back, a fool thing to do, made me appear guilty."

"You've said it. Morrison Grove recognized you."

"Why was he there?"

"To call on the Digbys, his constituents. You are out of luck, Eckhard. It isn't publicly known yet, because it couldn't have happened when Gene was on the job, a valuable enamel box and a set of Apostles' spoons disappeared from the Gallery."

Not necessary to mention the fact that they had been found later, or that the Constable—

you see the mysterious him or her come out?"

"No. By that time I was so stiff, chilled and almost deaf from the crashes of thunder I decided to move to make sure I could. I stole around the side of the garage, hoping that because of the storm Si Pond would be late in arriving and I might contact him."

"Why not contact me inside the house?"

"Wet and bedraggled as I was you would have thought me crazy, besides, apparently you were getting along all right, no one had molested you. I didn't see Si, but I saw his bike."

"So, that is where it went?"

"Temporarily. Chills set my teeth chattering. I was fed up with my man hunt, decided to borrow the bike and beat it to Sunnyside, I would return it in the morning before Si missed it. As you and he were on the premises to keep order, I wasn't needed. Cautiously I pushed the wheel back to the shrubs to make my start from there. I could see two cars at the front entrance, no use mixing up with them."

"And while you were at the garage, the party of the first part made his escape?"

"That's what I thought then, wait till you hear the rest. I was mounting the bike when the kitchen door opened. Someone reached out, thrust something into the wood box and withdrew. The door closed soundlessly. Excitement ousted chills."

"Why didn't you grab him—or her? Couldn't you see who it was?"

"It was done so quickly that I saw nothing but a dark figure against the light. My move was to stay put. If something had been hidden surreptitiously it was bound to be retrieved. I waited and shivered and shook till headlights again illumined the ell. The car didn't come within sight. Someone ran to the wood box—I heard the creak of the cover—took out what looked like a roll of dark paper, picked up something in the path and ran back. The car started. So did I. I tailed it on the bike."

"And stole the blotters when I was in the house at Rocky Point?"

"I didn't get to Rocky Point. I hadn't gone a hundred feet when the kitchen came on. I saw you and Miss Fran in a doorway looking at the floor. 'Aha, I told myself, that first visitor left a trail.' I'm a mystery story addict. I was raised on the Sherlock Holmes formula, observation and deduction. Then you pulled down the shades, opened the outside door, closed and locked it."

"Play by play account so far; you missed a lead, though. You didn't know that Betsy Digby left a key in the lock outside that very door before she hurried away, which fact made it a cinch for the first person to enter and lock it after him on the inside. Did waiting pay dividend?"

Mrs. Martin G. Morris Hostess To Jeffersonville Progress Club

Mrs. Martin G. Morris was a gracious hostess to the Jeffersonville Progress Club for their regular meeting at her home on the Prairie Road.

The president, Mrs. O. L. Wiseman presided over the business session.

Mrs. Charles Seibert presented a well prepared paper on "What's New In Medicine" and she said in part. In 1900 the average length of life in the United States was a little more than 49 years but by 1946 it was almost 67 years and for white women life expectancy at birth was more than the proverbial three score and ten.

"Therapeutic miracles" are the new drugs, penicillin, sulfa drugs, D. D. T., plasma atabrine, streptomycin, aureomycin and many other drugs that belong to the mycin family.

Born out of the miseries of the great wars America today surpasses any other nation in medical skill. President Roosevelt in 1943 set up the O. S. R. D.—Office of Scientific Research and Development and included a section which was to assist the development of medical discoveries. It was because of this government bureau, penicillin began to be manufactured in time to save the lives of men in the war and at this time it is produced on a large scale and is available to anyone who needs it. Dr. Alexander Fleming and Dr. Howard Florey were knighted by Great Britain for their service to mankind in giving us penicillin.

Streptomycin was developed over a period of long years of research and is helpful in combating tuberculosis bacilla.

In 1939 it was found that typhoid was helpful in treating pneumonia.

reception which aureomycin has received from the medical profession is a tribute to its wide range of activity against many types of infection. Dehydroergocornine is a new drug for relieving high blood pressure.

Cortisone and Acth are new drugs which have shown promise against rheumatoid arthritis or rheumatic fever.

All the new drugs discovered in these recent years of medical triumph are still being studied continually in laboratories of America, Europe and the East.

Their discoveries do not recognize boundaries of countries but are interchanged freely and their remarkable studies may open a new doorway to the future.

Mrs. Wiseman introduced as guest speaker, Mrs. N. M. Reiff who spoke on the Compulsory Health Insurance bill proposed under the Federal Security Administration.

"This plan" she explained, "threatens the health of patients in this country and that no place where this type of health program has been tried has there been anything but failure."

At the conclusion of the program the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Charles Graham December 13.

During a pleasant social hour the hostess served a delicious dessert course.

Irish and Trojans May Play in Snow

BY ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The climactic game of the football season—Army vs. Navy—was on tap today, and as usual all past records were being discarded.

Army's two platoons of operatives ruled 14-point favorites at game-time, but bookmakers were shuddering at the thought of the Middles rising to the occasion—as they usually do. Last year, the midshipmen held the powerful cadets to a 21-all tie.

There are other important games on the fire for this, the final major Saturday of college football for 1949. Some, in fact, will have considerable bearing in determining bowl selections.

Not only will the winner of the Rice-Baylor clash at Houston win the Southwest Conference title.

Cage Action To Speed up In County

Basketball fever around Fayette County will soon reach fever pitch.

Practically all the county high school teams have played enough games to give some indication of their strength.

Last year's county champions, the Wayne "Mad Anthony's" have won the only intra-county contest, but that was against the inexperienced Madison Mills five.

Next week, two county league court tussles are scheduled. Before the Jeffersonville Tigers take on Madison Mills Friday, they will play host to Sedalia Tuesday night.

Sedalia edged Bloomingburg in a hot contest earlier in the season. When Jeffersonville takes the court against them Tuesday they will be trying to break into the win column after losing three straight.

Bloomingburg and Wayne are scheduled to tangle Friday, but the former will first play host to Greenfield Wednesday night.

The Friday game should be a close one according to the records. Both Wayne and Bloomingburg have shown power, even though their losses outnumber their wins.

Rollins Beaten By Muskingum

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Muskingum College of New Concord, O., scored twice in the first period and once in the third to win a 21-0 victory last night over an injury-riddled Rollins College football team.

The Muskies drove 57 yards to score the first time they got the ball. The second tally came on a fake statue of liberty pass, while Don Pinney, 178-pound Youngstown, O., right half, scooted over from the 12 for the third marker.

The victory was the eighth in nine games for the Ohio conference champions and the fifth loss in seven contests for Rollins.

Muskingum gained 286 yards rushing and 35 yards passing. Rollins compiled 90 in rushing and 117 by passing.

Score by periods:
Rollins 0 0 0 0—0
Muskingum 14 0 7 0—21
Muskingum scoring: touchdowns—Steve, Pinney 2. Points after touchdowns—White 3.

Apparently, said Miles, Ruff spotted Mrs. Goodman's red kerchief bobbing in the thick brush along the Ogeechee River and fired.

Mrs. Goodman's husband, who had taken a position some distance away, said he came running up when the shot was fired and found Ruff kneeling with Mrs. Goodman in his arms.

Goodman said Ruff cried, "Oh, my God, I've killed my wife." Before he could stop him, Goodman related, Ruff placed a shotgun against his head and fired.

When Ohio State and California meet as the 1950 Rose Bowl contenders for the first time in 29 years, electronic means of relaying their activities to the nation will be in sharp contrast to those earlier days.

In 1921, broadcast radio was just in its beginnings in the eastern part of the country. Television was not much more than a dream.

In 1950, not only will coast-to-coast radio be there with its fullest facilities, but so will the cameras of television, both for live local transmission in the Los Angeles area and for a filmed version for delayed transmission in other cities.

Some day the hope is to make the vision available to the entire country, but as yet neither coaxial cable nor microwave relay circuits have been extended that far.

CBS is handling both radio and television.

Tar Heels Dominate Southern All Stars
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 26.—(AP)—North Carolina's Tar Heels, treated rather rudely by most of their intersectional foes this year but kings of their own league, today gained the most places on the 1949 all-southern conference football team on the Associated Press.

The loop champions placed three men on the honor eleven, selected by the vote of conference coaches and newsmen.

The first team:
Ends—Art Weiner, North Carolina, and Vito Ragazzo, William and Mary.
Tackles—Louis Allen, Duke, and Ray Krouse, Maryland.
Guards—Ray Cicia, Wake Forest, and Charles Musser, North Carolina State.
Center—Irvin Holdash, North Carolina.
Backs—Charlie Justice, North Carolina; Billy Cox, Duke; Joseph Rex, William and Mary, and Bill Gregus, Wake Forest.

Gregus is a 185-pounder from Toledo, O. He is a powerful runner, an outstanding blocker and will be around another year to bother the deacons' foes.

Holdash, a junior from Youngstown, O., easily was the No. 1 center choice. As a line backer he caused constant trouble for Tar Heels foes, time after time breaking through to halt their running attack.

Winterized Concrete
Instructions for good results in winter months.
● Clean forms of all ice & snow
● Throw ground if it is frozen, never place concrete on frozen ground.
● Protect concrete from freezing while setting up is taking place.
● Normally concrete (according to the Portland Cement Association) should be maintained at 50 degrees or higher for five days after placing. Straw is a fine protection.
● Do not remove forms until concrete has had time to harden.
● We clean out all frost from aggregates in a modern bin and batched plant.
● We use water at the advised temperature.
● We place ready mix in your forms at the recommended temperature.
● Concrete whether you mix with a hand shovel or buy ready mix is a manufacturing process.
● It's a simple process but it should be carefully done for best results.
● Any good contractor knows how to care for your job.

Fruit Crop In Ohio Is Clean
Unusual Crop Picked During Season
Ohio orchardists this year harvested the largest and most insect-damage free crop of fruit since 1942. T. H. Parks, extension entomologist at Ohio State University, reported today.

Releasing the names of an honor group of Ohio orchard men, Parks said inspections of orchards this year revealed more clean (free from insect damage) fruit than ever before recorded in the state. He checked orchards in 21 counties for preventable insect and disease blemishes. Of these, 15 orchards checked more than 99 percent, and 28 more than 97 percent clean fruit.

Heading the list this year was Ernest Downing, New Madison (Darke County), whose orchard had a score of 99.97. Only one insect blemished fruit was found in 3,000 apples checked, at random in his 18-acre apple orchard. No apple scab nor codling moth blemishes could be found. Downing's orchard was first in the state in 1947, and placed second in 1948.

Second in percentage of clean fruit was the 48-acre orchard of W. W. Reynolds, Utica (Licking County), with a score of 99.88. His orchard ranked in top position last year.

Close behind the leaders was the 35-acre orchard of Herbert Koontz, St. Louisville (Licking County), which scored 99.87.

All of the orchard men placing in the "top ten" honor group, Parks said, have well-managed orchards, and few applied more than the recommended number of sprays required for good commercial control of pests.

Early Mailing Being Urged By Postmaster

Yuletide Mail Over
Last Year's Rush
Is Anticipated

Postmaster W. E. Passmore opened the Yuletide season officially Saturday. He issued his annual appeal for early mailing of Christmas greeting cards and gift packages.

Postmaster Passmore expects the greatest flood of Yuletide mail in local history. He predicted it would exceed "by a considerable margin" the record-breaking 1948 holiday season, when 300,000 pieces of mail were cancelled.

"This year's deluge of Christmas mail will strain post office facilities severely," he stated. "But we'll get everything delivered by Christmas, if the public cooperates wholeheartedly."

Christmas packages for distant states should be mailed by December 5, he declared. All Yuletide parcel post should be on its way by December 10, he said.

Christmas cards to friends in other states should be deposited by December 15. Greetings for local delivery should click through the stamp cancellation machines at least a week before Christmas, Passmore pointed out.

Preparations to handle this Yuletide rush have already begun. The post office is training extra mail clerks and carriers, setting up new sorting tables, hauling out reserve mail sacks, and renting delivery trucks. Thousands of bright new postage stamps are on hand, and the post office pens are all getting new points.

To keep Christmas mail on schedule, the postmaster asks that you should:

Stop at the post office next week to purchase the extra stamps you're going to need, thus avoiding last-minute crowds. When buying stamps for Christmas cards, bear in mind the desirability of sending the cards as first class mail; also the fact that the rate for unsealed cards has been increased from 1½¢ to 2¢ each.

Check and revise your Christmas card address list this week-end. Purchase your Christmas cards early and address and stamp them at once. Then stack them in a convenient place for mailing at the proper time.

Lay in adequate supplies of heavy cardboard, sturdy outer paper, strong cord, and printed Fourth Class labels for wrapping parcel post. Packages are limited to 70 pounds in weight, and must not measure more than 100 inches in length and girth combined. Repeat the address inside the outer wrappings, in case they are damaged in transit.

If you worry about the recipient peeking, the postmaster advises pasting "Do Not Open Until Christmas" stickers on packages and the backs of greeting card envelopes.

Legion Women To Fete Cubs

Banquet to Honor
Future Varsity Men

Someday the small ones will be the big ones.

With that in mind, Washington C. H. isn't forgetting the Blue Lion football players of the future.

For the first time in many a year, the boys who don the Blue and White for Cub games will be honored with a banquet.

This year, the Cubs are going to be treated exactly like their big brother of the WHS varsity.

Making this possible will be the women of the American Legion Auxiliary who at the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce have agreed to cook and serve the meal to the boys December 5.

On that date, every varsity understudy, right down to the last little Brown and Wolverine, will march into the Legion Hall as the guests of the Auxiliary.

Coach Ron Guinn's charges, 44 in all, will be treated to a home-cooked meal and a fine program of entertainment.

There has been a lot of talk around town of the fine spirit these junior players showed on the gridiron in their mid-week games at Gardner Park here and on foreign fields during the past season.

Now townsfolk have a chance to show their appreciation officially. Parents and anyone else interested in attending the banquet may buy tickets for $1.25 apiece.

They are available from Clarence McCarty at the Chamber of Commerce; Richard Willis at Willis Insurance Agency and Homer Birely at the Washington Savings Bank.

Mrs. Fred Hamm Succumbs at Home

A teacher in Ross County schools for several years, Mrs. Hamm was an active member of the First Presbyterian Church and the Charlotte Tuttle Sisterhood Class here.

Surviving at home are two daughters, Miss Edna and Miss Helen and a son Joseph.

She also leaves one sister, Mrs. Frank Schiller of Chillicothe.

Funeral services will be held at 2 P. M. Tuesday at the Hook and Son Funeral Home.

Interment will be in the family lot in Washington Cemetery. Friends may call at the residence on the Robinson Road any time after Sunday noon.

Baptist Group To Hold First Meet

Members of the newly organized Clinton Baptist Association young adult fellowship group will hold their first regular meeting at 2:30 P. M. Sunday at the First Baptist Church here.

Robert Lambert, newly elected president of the group, said between 75 and 100 persons from churches in Chillicothe, Greenfield, Wilmington, Richmondale, Sugar Creek, Hillsboro and Washington C. H. would be present at the meeting.

Rev. Twining, pastor of the Baptist Church in Bexley, will be the principal speaker. Rev. Robert Adams of Hillsboro will lead in some group singing. Light refreshments will be served.

Officers of the group include Lambert; Robert Shultz of Greenfield, vice-president and Ralph Piegreen of Chillicothe, treasurer. Purpose of the meetings is for the encouragement of young groups in the various churches and for the promotion of their activities.

During the early hours of Friday night, the John Leland home on North North Street was entered and thoroughly ransacked, but nothing was reported missing. The family was absent until about 9:30 P. M.

Apparently, the burglars, believed to have been boys, were looking for money, and passed up everything else of value.

Police were notified and are investigating.
